Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How far in the future do you make plans with your friends?
- How flexible are the plans?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about family life and personal qualities.
- I can talk about people's habits.
- I can talk about future action, plans and intentions.

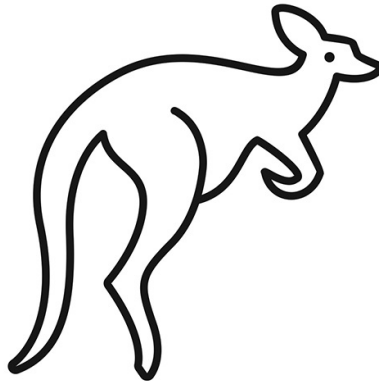

Let's Explore!

Is Peter really going to explode?

* Exaggerating like saying you are "going to explode" after a large dinner is common in English.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: I am going to explode!
Sally: How big is that stomach of yours?
Vanessa: You never feel full!
Peter: Uh-huh. Uh-huh. Okay. Bye. Guys, I'm leaving soon. I have a date.
Sally: No you aren't. We always help clean up.
Vanessa: It's okay. We'll wash up later.
Peter: I'm meeting Janette at the movie theater! The film starts at 10! Have to run!
- Sally: That was the best meal ever! Now, update me on Marco!
Vanessa: He always goes to Australia this time of year. He visits his parents, cousins, aunts, and uncles every year. It's a large family!
- Sally: Uh-huh?
Vanessa: He's coming here next week! He arrives on Tuesday!
Sally: No way!
Vanessa: I'm going to cook dinner to surprise him!
Sally: Let's make it dinner for four! We can grill him!
Vanessa: Good idea! Now what about you?
Sally: Well, my articles are going to be featured in a special issue on famous people!
- Vanessa: That's amazing! Your fierce, demanding editor likes your work!
Sally: She was very enthusiastic and said I was an asset to the magazine.
Vanessa: I can't wait to read them! I'm very optimistic about our careers!

Learning Points

The Future

You can use four different tenses to talk about the future.

When you talk about things that are not decided or when you make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future, you use the modal will.

With will you use words like: perhaps, maybe and I think, to show you are still not sure.

When you ask about intentions, you use going to. With going to you often use words like: sometime, soon and when I have time, to show you intend to do this, but have not set a specific time.

When you talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future, you use the Present Continuous tense.

With the Present Continuous, you use specific times and dates to show this event is booked.

Many people use going to in place of the Present Continuous tense.

You use the Simple Present tense to talk about future schedules.

Will	We'll wash up later.
Going to	I'm going to cook him dinner to surprise him!
Present Continuous	He's coming here next week!
Simple Present	The movie starts at 8 p.m.

Learning Points

Personal Qualities and Behavior

When you talk about family, you often describe their personalities and their behavior.

Their personality is their general character. The way they are.

Example: Sandra is a tidy person. Her apartment is always clean and neat.

Their behavior is the way they act or conduct themselves.

Example: Tom is usually relaxed but today he seems nervous.

We use adjectives to talk about behavior and personality.

Adjective	Synonym
fierce	relentless; aggressive
optimistic	hopeful; confident
demanding	exacting; tough
conservative	traditional; unprogressive
stubborn	inflexible; single-minded
energetic	active; lively
ambitious	determined; eager
adventurous	bold; daring
enthusiastic	keen; passionate
