Let's Start!

I can smell the food from here!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you and your friends ever make food together?
- What kind of food do you like to share with friends?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about family life and personal qualities.
- I can talk about people's habits.
- I can talk about future action, plans and intentions.

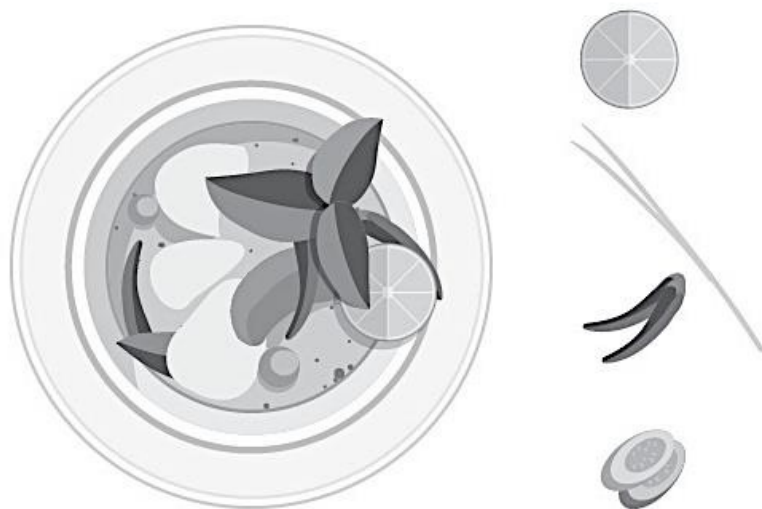

Let's Explore!

Vanessa can't take all the credit for the wonderful food.

* When you "take all the credit" you accept all of the praise for doing something well.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: Mmm, this Thai curry is to die for! Thanks, Vanessa.

Peter: Yeah, you are one talented cook.

Vanessa: I can't take all the credit. A very gracious co-worker, Mika, gave me the recipe.

Peter: Yeah?

Vanessa: She makes it all the time. It's a treasured family recipe. Her aunt gave it to her.

Peter: Do you always choose the same kind of food when you invite people over?

Sally: No, V never serves the same thing twice!

Peter: Then I'm going to come here every time you ask me Vanessa!

Sally: You'll have to bribe her to be invited!

Vanessa: I'm having a taste night with in a few weeks. You can come then!

Peter: I'll be there. I'm very experimental when it comes to food. I'll eat anything you serve!

Sally: Your stomach is a bottomless pit, Peter! You are constantly hungry!

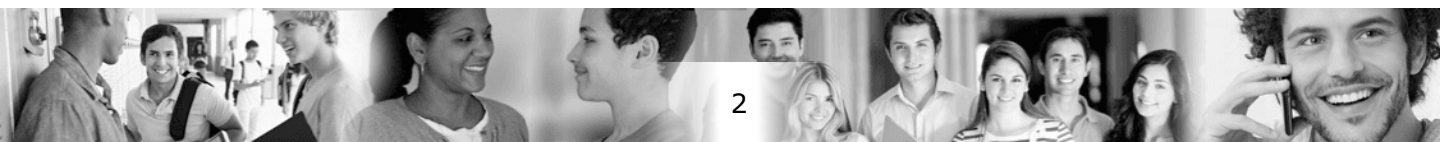

Vanessa: I don't mind. We're all going to cook different dishes to try.

Peter: We?

Vanessa: Other people I know who are dedicated chefs like me!

Peter: I'm not eating the day before! What time does it start?

Sally: Oh Peter!

Learning Points

Talking About the Future

There are several ways in which we can talk about the future.

We use the present simple for something scheduled or arranged:

We have a lesson next Monday.

We can use the present continuous for plans or arrangements:

I'm playing football tomorrow.

We use will when we make predictions about the future:

I think Italy will win the World Cup.

We also use will to make offers or promises:

Mary will help you with your homework.

We use (be) going to to talk about plans and intentions:

I'm going to drive to work today.

We also use (be) going to when we can see something is likely to happen:

Be careful! You are going to fall.

Learning Points

Talking about Personal Qualities

When you talk about people, you often describe their personal qualities. You can talk about their behavior and their personalities.

Behavior is the way a person acts or conducts themselves.

Example: Tom is usually relaxed, but today he seems nervous.

Personality is a person's general character (the way they are).

Example: Sandra is a tidy person. Her apartment is always clean and neat.

We use adjectives to talk about behavior and personality.

Adjective	Synonym
dedicated	committed; devoted
talented	skilled; accomplished
gracious	hospitable; accommodating
experimental	open-minded
conservative	traditional; unprogressive
stubborn	inflexible; single-minded
energetic	active; lively
ambitious	determined; eager
adventurous	bold; daring
enthusiastic	keen; passionate

Examples:

- My sister is adventurous!
- I know I can be stubborn at times.
- My very gracious coworker gave me the recipe.
