

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Family members can be difficult sometimes!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about family life.
- I can talk about behavior and personality.
- I can talk about future action, plans and intentions.

Ask your partner:

- Do you have disagreements with your family sometimes?
- What do you disagree on?

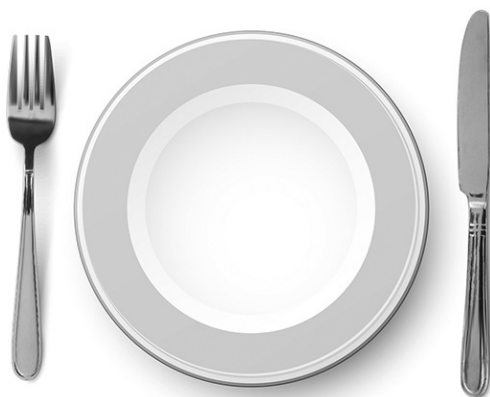

Let's Explore!

Peter's dad is going to ask Sally some personal questions!

* "Personal questions" are ones about you and your life that most people don't ask until they know you well.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Your boss sounds a lot like my dad.
Sally: Really? He's a tough nut to crack?
Peter: Yeah. He's very uncompromising. Every morning, he expects me to read the sports stats in the paper, memorize them and then update him over breakfast.
Sally: Sounds odd ...
Peter: At least we both like sports! We have a lot in common, actually.
Sally: Ok, I'm coming over for dinner soon. I need to see you two together.
Peter: He's very presumptuous, too. If you come, he's going to think we're dating. He'll grill you over dinner.
Sally: Grill me how?
Peter: He's going to ask really personal questions and act completely normal about it. He can be so embarrassing sometimes.
Sally: It's ok. I can hold my own.
Peter: I know you can, but can I?
Sally: I'll coach you through it beforehand over coffee.
Peter: What are you doing today?
Sally: Oh! My yoga class starts in half an hour! I have to go!
Peter: Ok. We're getting together with V later, remember?
Sally: Dinner is at 8. See you then!

Let's Practice!

Peter and his father don't always see eye to eye.

*Eye to eye: To see eye to eye means to have similar views or attitudes.

Instructions: Read the dialogue again. Select the correct answer.

1. Peter's father asks him to ...
 - a. remember the sports page.
 - b. remember sports in the paper.
 - c. memorize sports stats.
 - d. memorialise sports stats.
2. Peter and his father ...
 - a. are both common.
 - b. have many things in common.
 - c. are interested in common things.
 - d. are interesting common people.
3. Sally's boss ...
 - a. is Peter's dad.
 - b. knows Peter's dad.
 - c. likes Peter's dad.
 - d. is like Peter's dad.

Let's Practice!

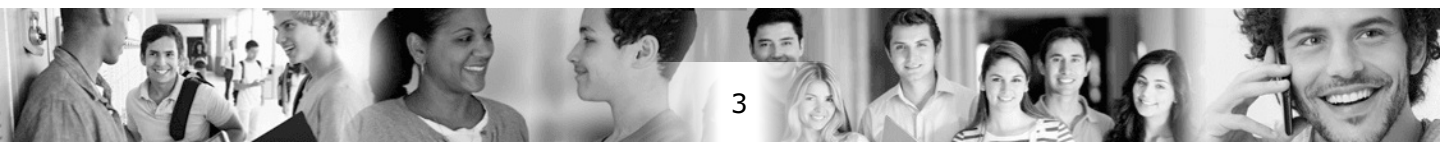

Sally and Peter discuss Peter's father!

Instructions: Choose from the word bank to correctly complete. Use capitals where necessary.

Word Bank

uncompromising / embarrassing / hold my own / tough nut / presumptuous

1. Sally: Your father is a _____ to crack?
2. Peter: Yes, he's very _____, too.
3. Peter: He's also very _____.
4. Peter: He can be so _____ sometimes. He'll grill you!
5. Sally: I can _____.

Extension Activity

Your family likes to meet your friends and grill them. Roleplay taking a friend home for dinner.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Make a list of 10 questions - both comfortable and uncomfortable - that they could ask.
- Roleplay with a partner. You are at dinner. Have them ask you the questions.
- Answer politely, but don't get angry or upset.
- Trade roles and repeat.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I write a list of 10 questions to ask someone.

☐ ☐

I roleplay with a partner.

☐ ☐

I listen carefully to the questions.

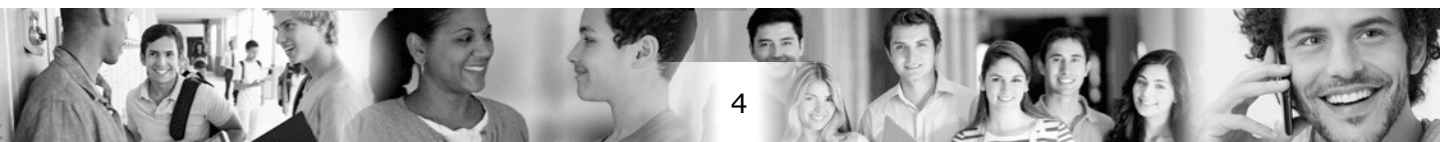

☐ ☐

I answer questions politely.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- tough nut to crack (expression): a difficult problem or opponent e.g. Peter's dad is a tough nut to crack.
- to memorize (verb): to learn so you can remember e.g. Dad expect me to memorize the sports stats every day.
- to update (verb): to give someone more recent information
e.g. Call me and update me on what happened!
- to grill (verb): to question relentlessly
e.g. His father will grill you if you go there for dinner.
- presumptuous (adjective): rude for doing something you have no right to do e.g. It was presumptuous of you to show up uninvited.
- embarrassing (adjective): making you feel uncomfortable or self-conscious e.g. Forgetting his name was embarrassing.
- to hold your own (expression): to be able to handle a situation
e.g. I can hold my own against your father.
- beforehand (adverb): in advance
e.g. Let me know if you're at the office beforehand, and I'll meet you there.
- uncompromising (adjective): fixed; not easily changed
e.g. He's very uncompromising. His ideas never change.

Learning Points

The Future

You use will, going to and the Present Continuous to talk about the future in different ways.

Will	Will + infinitive	be going to + infinitive	Present Continuous intention	Sure, I'll give you a ride to the shop. (decided at the time of speaking: spontaneous offers, promises, decisions)	Sure, I can't help you on Saturday. I'm going to help my girlfriend move into her new apartment . (decided before the time of speaking, but not yet fully planned) prediction	Sure, I think you'll find this book very interesting. (based on personal judgment, opinion or intuition)	My sister is going to have a baby. (based on present evidence or the predicted event is very near and is sure to happen)
arrangement			I'm flying to Paris on the 23rd of this month. (plans and arrangements have been made)

Learning Points

Talking on the Phone

You can keep a conversation going in English by talking about different topics. You can ask questions, respond to or comment on what the person you are talking to is telling you.

Example:

Really? He's a tough nut to crack?

Yeah. He's very uncompromising.

Every morning, he expects me to read the sports stats in the paper, memorize them and then update him over breakfast.

When it's time end your conversation, you can say goodbye, or just leave with a comment.

Ending a Conversation with Friends

Bye. Talk to you later!

Gotta go!

Something is coming for you. I feel it. Bye.

