Let's Start!

Exploring the generation gap!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about behavior and personality.
- I can talk about plans and intentions.
- I can talk about future actions.

Ask your partner:

- Do you and your family see your future differently? How?
- How much influence does your family have on what you are going to do in the future?

Let's Explore!

Sally's cousin Nick is going to be living on his own.

* When you are living "on your own", you live by yourself without help from family.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: My cousin Nick e-mailed me last week. He's moving out of the house next month.
- Vanessa: Is he going to go to college?
- Sally: No. He's going to work. He'll have to find a job first. He's only 16.
- Vanessa: That's young to leave home.
- Sally: He and my Uncle Edward don't see eye to eye. Uncle Edward is much older. There is definitely a generation gap between them. Uncle Edward is very conservative. Nick is stubborn like his father, but he's also adventurous and enthusiastic about so many things.
- Vanessa: What is he going to do?
- Sally: I'm setting up a couple of interviews for him with hotels in the city. He's coming in next week to see what he can find.
- Vanessa: Will he be happy to start at the bottom?
- Sally: I think so. He's energetic and ambitious. I'm sure he'll work hard. I think he'll do fine.
- Vanessa: How will his parents feel?
- Sally: They're going to be upset for a while. I'm sad they're arguing.

Learning Points

The Future

Some people have been taught that will is the future in English. This is not entirely correct. Sometimes when we talk about the future we cannot use will.

We can use will to talk about future events we believe to be certain.

We use going to when we want to talk about a plan for the future.

We use the present continuous when the action takes place at a definite point in the future.

Will	Maybe I'll take a class next semester. I think he'll be okay.
Going to	I'm going to go to a movie this weekend. His parents are going to be upset for a while.
Present Continuous	I'm leaving for Europe on Monday. I'm interviewing for a job at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Learning Points

Personal Qualities and Behavior

When you talk about family, you often describe their personalities and their behavior.

Personality is a person's general character (the way they are).

Example: Sandra is a tidy person. Her apartment is always clean and neat.

Behavior is the way people act or conduct themselves.

Example: Tom is usually relaxed but today he seems nervous.

We use adjectives to talk about behavior and personality.

conservative	traditional; unprogressive
stubborn	inflexible; single-minded
energetic	active; lively
ambitious	determined; eager
adventurous	bold; daring
enthusiastic	keen; passionate

Examples:

- Nick is stubborn like his father.
- Uncle Edward is very conservative.
- My sister is always energetic.
- I am the most ambitious person in my family.
